ABSTRACT

Paulus Kristian Andris Bulang, 20. 75. 6899. The Relevance of the Community Base of St. Alfonsus Maria De Liguori Parish in Kererobbo for Pastoral Work. Thesis. Ledalero Undergraduate Science, Philosophy-Technology and Creative Study Program. 2024.

The main purpose of this thesis is to analyze the roles of the Church-based Community in supporting pastoral work and to examine its relevance to the pastoral work of the Parish of St. Alfonsus Maria De Liguori Kererobbo. To achieve this objective, the author employs a qualitative research method through interviews and secondary data analysis or literature review. Through the interview method, the author gathers information from the congregation on their roles in pastoral work, and through the literature review method, the author reads various relevant literature pertaining to the theme under consideration.

Based on the study results, several roles of the Church-based Community were found to support pastoral work. These roles include serving as a platform to combat individualism, as a place to uphold the value of togetherness, and as a venue to prevent apathetic living. However, according to the interview findings, it was discovered that the congregation is less actively involved in fulfilling their roles as members of the Church-based Community. The factors contributing to the lack of community involvement are: the presence of customary and cultural demands, work demands, and the weakening of family economies.

From these roles, there is relevance for the pastoral work of the St. Alfonsus Maria De Liguori Kererobbo parish. Several things need to be done to support the pastoral work of the St. Alfonsus Maria De Liguori Kererobbo parish, namely: the importance of enhancing brotherhood, upholding the concept of togetherness, preventing individualistic lives, the importance of active involvement of the faithful in the Church Base Community, and the importance of building cooperation between pastoral agents and the faithful in building the Church Base Community.
