This present study aims to (1) describe the Oelbeba community and explain the results of the study of the Dawan Tmeop Onle Ate, Tah Onle Usif proverb; (2) explain the exegesis of 2 Thessalonians 3:1-15, specifically discussing efforts to build morale; (3) explain the implications of the Dawan Tmeop Onle Ate, Tah Onle Usif proverb in the light of 2 Thessalonians 3:1-15 for the Oelbeba community. The method used in this research is mixed, with interview techniques, observation, literature study, and questionnaire data collection. The objects studied in this research are peptah dawan Tmeop Onle Ate, Tah Onle Usif in the light of 2 Thessalonians 3:1-15 and the Oelbeba Community.

Based on the research results, the Dawan Tmeop Onle Ate, Tah Onle Usif proverb, in the light of 2 Thessalonians 3:1-15, has a profound meaning. Ironically, in the Oelbeba community, the Dawan proverb is less noticed and preserved. As a result, the appreciation of this local wisdom is lost, and the mentality of hard work of the community collapses. The author concludes that this Dawan proverb can help build the community's hard work metal. This is because not only does it have a deep meaning, but it is also born from the context of the community's life. In addition, this Dawan proverb also has a parallelism with the letter 2 Thessalonians 3:1-15. Every meaning in Dawan's proverb has a similar meaning and moral charm from the letter 2 Thessalonians 3:1-15. The meaning of this Dawan proverb in the light of 2 Thessalonians 3:1-15 can be a relevant reference for the people of Oelbeba in building a better work attitude and mentality. At least, there are several recommendations that the author concludes for the Oelbeba community to rebuild the appreciation of the meaning of this proverb, namely (1) conducting a joint dialogue involving the government, community, traditional leaders, and religious leaders; (2) developing character education in the family, especially cultural character; (3) conducting cultural actions such as art performances, campaigns or socialization, catechesis, and so on.
