ABSTRACT

Yanuarius Yosep Siga, 18.75.6472. A Study of the Pastoral Work of the Sacred Heart of Jesus Parish Church Maunori for Couples Entering Interfaith Marriages. Thesis. Undergraduate Program, Catholic Theology-Philosophy of Religion Study Program, Institute of Philosophy and Creative Technology Ledalero, 2025.

This research aims to critically examine the form and role of pastoral work carried out by the Maunori Sacred Heart of Jesus Parish Church in assisting couples who have mixed marriages of different religions. The subject matter examined in this research is formulated in the main question: How is the form and role of the pastoral work of the Maunori Sacred Heart of Jesus Parish Church in assisting couples who perform mixed marriages of different religions? This question is elaborated into several sub-problems: First, what is the concept and theological basis of the sacrament of marriage in the teachings of the Catholic Church, especially in the context of mixed marriages of different religions? Second, what are the social, cultural, emotional, and religious challenges faced by couples in interfaith marriages? Thirdly, how is the real implementation of pastoral work carried out by the parish for couples of different religions? And fourthly, to what extent is the effectiveness of pastoral care in fostering harmonious and faithful family life, and how does it contribute to the life of the Church and multicultural society?

This research uses a qualitative approach with a descriptive method. Data were collected through in-depth interviews with parish priests and interfaith couples, direct observation of pastoral activities in the parish, as well as documentation studies that included ecclesiastical documents, marriage guidelines, and formation materials.

The results show that the Maunori Sacred Heart of Jesus Parish Church has developed a comprehensive pastoral approach through spiritual guidance, counselling, and interfaith dialogue. These efforts aim to build mutual understanding, encourage mutual respect, and emphasise the importance of careful preparation for the sacrament of marriage. The services provided not only touch on the spiritual aspect, but also pay attention to the social and emotional dimensions of the couple.

This study concludes that the pastoral work of the Church in the Sacred Heart of Jesus Maunori Parish has a significant role in helping interfaith couples build a harmonious and faithful family. The author recommends the development of a more structured interfaith pastoral programme as well as ongoing training for pastoral ministers to be more sensitive to the plural reality of society. This kind of pastoral work can be used as a model of contextual and transformative Church service in today's multicultural society.
